SKEMA enters the Shanghai Academic Ranking

SKEMA Business School has entered the Shanghai ranking published on June 28th, 2017 by the Shanghai Ranking Consultancy.

This classification by discipline positions SKEMA among the 400 best research institutions in the world, confirming the school's excellence in management research.

This global ranking classifies over 4,000 universities in terms of their number of research publications in 52 disciplines covering 5 main areas: earth sciences, engineering, life sciences, medical sciences, as well as the social sciences that include management research.

Alice Guilhon, CEO and Dean of SKEMA, is delighted with this result. "This prestigious ranking confirms SKEMA's growing reputation in international research, its expanding faculty and number of publications. The school's ambition for excellence is reflected by our continuous recruitment of top French and international professors and lecturers; this guarantees that our 7,500 students are trained by professors at the forefront of their discipline who produce world class research. "
